CYBERSECURITY IN OUR MODERN WORLD

In our digital world, many companies face complex and intricate cyber threats. The risk of becoming a victim and the impact on business is no longer negligible. What used to be defacement attacks, credit card theft and fraud or ransomware against less protected individual user have now become complex, long enduring attacks against companies, with the goal of impairing business, obtain ransom, execute unauthorized financial transactions or steal secrets. This change in the quality and quantity of cyber-attacks happens continuously and will not stop for the years to come.

For our first event of 2020, we have the pleasure and honor to welcome two surprise experts in cybersecurity. In a three-part conference, they will present some recent examples of cyber-attacks, then they will talk about measures and means needed to handle these threats, and finally, they will present some ongoing activities (and opportunities) to transmit the necessary skills to the personnel in charge of protecting IT-systems. Join us for this mysterious and thrilling event and uncover the enigmas around cybersecurity.
